

HELENA H. GAO

Nanyang Technological University

Helena Hong Gao received her doctoral degree in linguistics from Lund University, Sweden and did her post-doctoral research in cognitive psychology from the University of Toronto, Canada. Before she joined NTU in August, 2006, she was the research director in the Cognitive Development Lab/Child Study Centre at the University of Toronto. Dr. Gao's research interests are cognition and language development, cognitive linguistics, bilingualism, language acquisition & language teaching, and computational linguistics.